Tekcetera prides itself on a superior quality of service that we provide to our customers.

We are your trusted technology partner for specialty consulting, CRM implementations, software development, Avaya telecommunications, web design and eCommerce, turnkey infrastructure design and more. Come experience the best professional consulting and support you can find.

Our offices are located in Southern California on the West Coast and Connecticut on the East Coast. We proudly serve hundreds of customers across the United States with a focus on local business communities.

John Pitts and Adrian Holloway founded Tekcetera in November of 2002 in Woodland Hills, CA. John & Adrian have been long time colleagues and after three months of research in 2002 decided to start a technology solutions company that caters to the needs of the small to medium business market in the greater southern California region.

Seven years later, Tekcetera is a thriving company rapidly growing and expanding into new markets.

During the 2009-2010 calendar years, Tekcetera plans to open offices in San Diego and Riverside / Corona.
